Critical Library Instruction: Theories and Methods

Editors Maria Accardi, Emily Drabinski, Alana Kumbier
Price $35.00
ISBN 978-0-936117-01-7
Published March 2010
6" × 9" / 341 pages

Bringing together the voices of a range of practicing librarians, this collection illuminates theories and methods of critical pedagogy and library instruction. Chapters address critical approaches to standards and assessment practices, links between queer, anti-racist and feminist pedagogies and the library classroom, intersections of critical theories of power and knowledge and the library, and the promise and peril of reflective instruction practices.

Humanism and Libraries: An Essay on the Philosophy of Librarianship

Author André Cossette
Translator Rory Litwin
Price $15.00
ISBN 978-1-936117-17-8
Published December 2009
5.06" × 7.81" / 79 pages

This book is a concise but rigorous investigation into the foundations of librarianship—its definition and its aims. Philosophical and logical in its approach, it is intended to provide solid ground and unity for professional practice. The book includes a preface that makes the case for reading a work from the 1970s on library philosophy, and a set of “questions for reflection” following the text.

Questioning Library Neutrality: Essays from Progressive Librarian

Editor Alison Lewis
Price $18.00
ISBN 978-0-9778617-7-4
Published April 2008
5.5" × 8.5" / 152 pages

Questioning Library Neutrality: Essays from Progressive Librarian presents essays that relate to neutrality in librarianship in a philosophical or practical sense, and sometimes both. They are a selection of essays originally published in Progressive Librarian, the journal of the Progressive Librarians Guild, presented in the chronological order of their appearance there. These essays, some by academics and some by passionate practitioners, offer a set of critiques of the notion of neutrality as it governs professional activity, focusing on the importance of meaningful engagement in the social sphere.
Information and Liberation: Writings on the Politics of Information and Librarianship

Author Shiraz Durrani
Price $45.00 (or £22.00)
ISBN 978–0–9802004–0–9
Published December 2008
7” × 10” / 385 pages

Information and Liberation is a retrospective collection of Shiraz Durrani’s articles and conference papers on the politics of information. The book documents the struggle for progressive and relevant information policies and practices over a period of 25 years in Kenya, Britain, and other countries. The book also records the vision, struggles and achievements of many progressive librarians and activists to develop a system and a society which can meet the information, social and cultural needs of all.

Library of Walls: The Library of Congress and the Contradictions of Information Society

Author Samuel Gerald Collins
Price $32.00
Published April 2009
6” × 9” / 216 pages

In Library of Walls, Samuel Collins engages the heterogeneities of the information society at the Library of Congress through ethnographic fieldwork, suggesting that “information society” is best understood at the locus of conflicting modalities imbricating text, space, work and life.

Responsible Librarianship: Library Policies for Unreliable Systems

Author David Bade
Price $22.00
Published February 2008
5.5” × 8.5” / 192 pages

David Bade argues that many cataloging policies and structures have been designed and implemented on the basis of assumptions about technical possibilities, ignoring entirely the political dimensions of local determination of goals and purposes as well as the lessons from ergonomics, such as the recognition that people are the primary agents of reliability in all technical systems. Looking at various policies for metadata creation and the results of those policies forces the question: is there a responsible human being behind the library web site and catalog, or have we abandoned the responsibilities of thinking and judgment in favor of procedures, algorithms and machines?
Barbarians at the Gates of the Public Library: How Postmodern Consumer Capitalism Threatens Democracy, Civil Education, and the Public Good

Author Ed D’Angelo
Price $18.00
Published November 2006
5.5” × 8.5” / 139 pages

Barbarians at the Gates of the Public Library is a philosophical and historical analysis of how the rise of consumerism has led to the decline of the original mission of public libraries to sustain and promote democracy through civic education. The book begins with a reading of historical figures such as Plato, Helvetius, Rousseau, and John Stuart Mill, showing an earlier era of public discourse, and goes on to show how in the 20th century capitalism evolved into a postmodern form that replaced democracy with consumerism and education with entertainment. Public libraries have mistakenly tried to remain relevant by shadowing the rise of consumerism, but have instead contributed to the rise of a new barbarism and the decline of democracy.

Library Juice Concentrate

Editor Rory Litwin
Price $25.00
ISBN 978-0-9778617-3-6
Published December 2006
6” × 9” / 260 pages

Library Juice Concentrate is a compilation of the best of Library Juice, an e-zine published by Rory Litwin between 1998 and 2005 that dealt with foundations of librarianship during a period of rapid change. The book includes essays and other artifacts that examine professional neutrality, intellectual freedom, alternative literature, the social effects of technological change, the cultural identity of the librarian, “anarchist librarianship,” the Cuba debate, Google’s scanning project, subject heading reform, and other issues. The aim of the essays in Library Juice Concentrate is to provoke original thought and to encourage newcomers in the field to participate in professional discourse with confidence and with attention to the intellectual and political struggles of the past.

Library Daylight:
Tracings of Modern Librarianship, 1874–1922

Editor Rory Litwin
Price $25.00
ISBN 978-0-9778617-4-3
Published December 2006
6” × 9” / 264 pages

Library Daylight is an eclectic collection of 36 articles about libraries and librarianship published between 1874 and 1922. These articles cover topics that are hotly discussed today: library education, women’s issues, library technology, the image of librarians, copyright, the tension between libraries as educational institutions and libraries as popular centers, the nature of library service, the public sphere, library PR, librarians and political activism, and visions of the future.

The Great Depression: Its Impact on Forty-Six Large American Public Libraries, an Analysis of Published Writings of Their Directors

Author Robert Scott Kramp
Price $15.00
ISBN 978-1-936117-02-4
Published May 2010
5.06” × 7.81” / 156 pages

This 1975 dissertation used content analysis to study the impact of the Great Depression on large American public libraries from 1930 to 1940. Areas studied were the depression’s effect on library internal operations, library services, and library directors’ attitudes toward the libraries and the public.

Restoring Order: The Ecole des Chartes and the Organization of Archives and Libraries in France, 1820–1870

Author Lara Jennifer Moore
Price $32.00
ISBN 978-0-9778617-9-8
Published March 2008
6” × 9” / 320 pages

According to most histories of French archives and libraries, the nineteenth century was a period of slow but steady recovery from the trauma of the revolutionary era. In contrast, Moore argues that the organization of archives and libraries in nineteenth-century France was neither steady nor progressive. By following the development of the Ecole des Chartes, the state school for archivists and librarians, Moore shows that conceptions of “order” changed dramatically from one decade to the next. These changing notions of “order” were directly connected to contemporary shifts in state politics. Since each new political regime had its own conceptions of both national history and public knowledge, each one worked to “restore order” in a different way.
She Was a Booklegger: Remembering Celeste West

Editors Toni Samek, Moyra Lang, and K. R. Roberto
Price $30.00
Published June 2010
7” × 10” / 260 pages

She Was a Booklegger: Remembering Celeste West is a compilation of reflections and tales from friends and other admirers who were influenced and inspired by this larger-than-life feminist librarian, lesbian, publisher, and activist. While Celeste West released a lot of work to the world as author and editor, not much was ever shared about her as subject. This memorial volume provides a written record for those who wish to learn about this remarkable woman.

Mrs. Magavero: A History Based on the Career of an Academic Librarian

Author Jane Brodsky Fitzpatrick
Price $15.00
ISBN 978-0-9778617-5-0
Published December 2007
5” × 8” / 104 pages

Filomena Magavero was an academic librarian at SUNY Maritime College in the Bronx, New York, where she contended with a level of sexism that defined professional life for female librarians in the mid 20th century. This book is the story of an “everywoman” of academic libraries and a library history from the perspective of a woman in her position at the time. Included are a very useful literature review on women in mid-20th century librarianship and an oral history interview with Mrs. Magavero.

Eugène Morel: Pioneer of Public Libraries in France

Author Gaëtan Benoit
Price $32.00
ISBN 978-0-9778617-8-1
Published October 2008
6” × 9” / 260 pages

Eugène Morel (1869–1934) was a French Librarian who, along the lines of such eminent public library pioneers as Edward Edwards and Melvil Dewey, made a remarkable contribution towards the development of public librarianship in France. Morel was genuinely interested in all facets of librarianship and played a dominant role in molding the development of most of them. This book is the first biography of Eugène Morel to appear in the English language.
Personal Archives and a New Archival Calling: Readings, Reflections and Ruminations

Author Richard J. Cox
Price $35.00
ISBN 978-0-9802004-7-8
Published January 2009
6” × 9” / 440 pages

As the technical means for creating, maintaining, and using documents are improving and becoming more cost-effective, individuals and families are seeking to preserve their old documents, especially traditional paper forms, as a connection to a past that may seem to be in risk of being swallowed up in the immense digital gadgetry in our Internet Age. Personal recordkeeping raises a remarkable array of issues and concerns about records and their preservation, public or collective memory, the mission of professional records managers and archivists, the nature of the role of the institutional archives, and the function of the individual citizen as their own archivist.

From Polders to Postmodernism: A History of Archival Theory

Author John Ridener
Price $22.00
ISBN 978-09802004-5-4
Published February 2009
5” × 8” / 208 pages

From Polders to Postmodernism is a broad ranging history of the conception and development of the theories that have guided archivists in their work from the late 19th through the early 21st centuries. Narrated through the controversial thread of archival appraisal theory, the book examines how archivists have engaged with theory through the tension between keeping records that reflect objective history “as it happened” and subjective decision making in the archive. Through an interpretive reading of archival theory, distinct periods emerge, with each paradigm contributing unique responses to difficult archival, historical, and theoretical contexts.

Vanishing Act: The Erosion of Online Footnotes and Implications for Scholarship in the Digital Age

Authors Michael Bugeja and Daniela V. Dimitrova
Price $18.00
ISBN 978-1-936117-14-7
Published June 2010
5.06” × 7.81” / 96 pages

A decade ago, most research was done in the library rather than through Web site, and scholars, editors, graduate directors and librarians were meticulous about the integrity of footnotes. Since 2003, authors Michael Bugeja and Daniela Dimitrova (Iowa State University of Science and Technology) have been at the forefront of research on the erosion of online footnotes and its implication for scholarship. Their book documents the vanishing act in flagship communication journals and provides readers with methods to mitigate the effect.
The Demise of Library School:
Personal Reflections on Professional Education in the Modern Corporate University

Author Richard J. Cox
Price $35.00
Published June 2010
6” × 9” / 358 pages

In The Demise of Library School, Richard J. Cox places the present and future of professional education for librarianship in the debate on the modern corporate university. The book is a series of meditations on critical themes relating to the education of librarians, archivists, and other information professionals, playing off of other commentators analyzing the nature of higher education and its problems and promises.

The Politics of Professionalism:
A Retro–Progressive Proposal for Librarianship

Author Juris Dilevko
Price $32.00
ISBN 978-1-936117-04-8
Published November 2009
6” × 9” / 242 pages

This book presents a proposal for the reform of library education that would reintellectualize librarianship, allowing librarians to deliver meaningful educational opportunities to users in venues that function as bulwarks against what Susan Jacoby labels as the “culture of distraction.” Libraries would become, in the words of David Levy, oases and sanctuaries conducive to “sustained reflection and contemplation.”

Rebel Literacy: Cuba’s National Literacy Campaign and Critical Global Citizenship

Author Mark Abendroth
Price $25.00
Published December 2009
5.5” × 8.5” / 169 pages

Rebel Literacy is a look at Cuba’s National Literacy Campaign of 1961 in historical and global contexts. The author collected about 100 testimonies of participants in the Campaign, and many of their stories and perspectives are highlighted in one of the chapters. Theirs are the stories of perhaps the world’s greatest educational accomplishment of the 20th Century, and critical educators of the 21st Century must not overlook the arduous and fruitful work that ordinary Cubans, many in their youth, contributed toward a nationalism and internationalism of emancipation.
So You Want To Be a Librarian

Author Lauren Pressley
Price $15.00
ISBN 978-0-9802004-8-5
Published July 2009
5.06” × 7.81” / 220 pages

Librarians tend to love their work and consider librarianship a great career. This book is by a talented librarian who wants to introduce people to the profession. It answers such questions as: What do librarians do? What are the different types of libraries and professional jobs in libraries? What are librarians all about and what hot issues do they discuss in their professional lives? What do I do to become a librarian? What are some important things to know once I’m in a masters program in library science? This book is an essential introduction to the profession for people who are at the point of choosing a career.

Published October 2006
5.5” × 8.5” / 191 pages

This directory is a unique reference tool that gathers information on significant alternative presses and places this under one cover. The presses profiled were culled from hundreds of small, active independent presses, building on the effort of the previous five editions of the directory. In total, one will find 126 U.S. presses, nineteen Canadian, and eighteen international presses having either a North American address or distributor. Thirty-three presses are new to this edition.

Speaking of Information: The Library Juice Quotation Book

Compiler Rory Litwin
Editor Martin Wallace
Price $15.00
ISBN 978-0-9802004-1-6
Published June 2009
5.06” × 7.81” / 172 pages

This book is a compilation of quotations originally collected for the “Quotes of the Week” section of Library Juice, an e-zine published by Rory Litwin between 1998 and 2005. Persons quoted include famous, not-so-famous, and infamous figures from classical to contemporary periods. Librarians are quoted, as well as intellectuals, politicians, novelists, scientists, celebrities, and others. Some quotes are about libraries and librarians, others are about intellectual freedom, and others are about the information society from a philosophical perspective. A thread that ties these quotations together is the idea of the library as servant and protector of the public sphere.
Slow Reading

Author John Miedema
Price $12.00
ISBN 978-0-9802004-4-7
Published March 2009
5.06” × 7.81” / 192 pages

Slow Reading provides a concise examination of the research in voluntary slow reading, from the earliest references in religion and philosophy, to the practice of close reading in the humanities, and the recent swell of interest associated with the Slow Movement. It looks at the diverse angles from which slow reading has been approached in education library sciences and media studies as well as research in psychology and neurophysiology. The theme of locality in the Slow Movement provides insight into the importance of physical location in our relationship with information. Most of all, Slow Reading represents a rediscovery of the pleasure of reading for its own sake.

A Space for Hate: The White Power Movement’s Adaptation into Cyberspace

Author Adam Klein
Price $25.00
Published June 2010
5.5” × 8.5” / 228 pages

While many books in recent years have addressed the notable ways that popular Internet culture and cyber trends such as blogging have democratized the community of information seekers and providers, little research to date has addressed the darker element that has emerged from that same democratic sphere. That is, the huge resurgence and successful transformation of hate groups across cyberspace, and in particular, those that promote white supremacist ideas and causes. A Space for Hate speaks to the media and information topic of hate speech in cyberspace, but more specifically, how its inscribers have adapted their movement into the social networking and information-providing contexts of the modern online community.

Forty Years in the Struggle:
The Memoirs of a Jewish Anarchist

Author Chaim Leib Weinberg
Translator Naomi Cohen
Price $28.00
ISBN 978-0-9802004-3-0
Published May 2009
6” × 9” / 228 pages

The memoirs of Chaim Leib Weinberg offer an interesting sliver of a larger picture, holding to an exclusively working class, folkloric niche. The author was an incredible orator and story teller: these were the talents that set him apart from most of his contemporaries. Because he devoted half a century to practicing his oral craft, he left a clear mark on the radical culture he lived within.
